The New York Connecting Railway is the name of the proposed line. Samuel Rea, Third Vice-Pres. of the Pennsylvania, stated that this company expected to begin work on the road at an early day. It is to run from a point on the Long Island Railroad system in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn across the low-lying ground between Bushwick and Flushing and thence across Hell Gate on a bridge which will span Ward's and Randall's Islands. On the Manhattan end there will be a grade connection with the New Haven system.
